Missouri University of Science and Technology

Beth Kania-Gosche is Chair and Professor of Teacher Education and Certification at Missouri University of Science & Technology. She taught high school English in a rural high school and is passionate about providing quality teachers to schools in the region. Dr. Kania-Gosche holds a PhD in Educational Studies from Saint Louis University, an MEd in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Missouri-Columbia, and a BS in English Education from Southeast Missouri State. She currently teaches the undergraduate course EDUC 3216 Reading in the Content Area, and she also has experience teaching doctoral research courses, supervising student teachers, and serving as a national site visitor. Dr. Kania-Gosche is the past-president of the Missouri Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, and she has served on many state workgroups and committees. Her accomplishments include leadership of the state report card revision for educator preparation programs and development of statewide instruments such as the student teaching evaluation rubric and the alumni/employer survey. Her goal is that every Missouri public school student has a caring, qualified teacher in their classroom.
